

WATER CANADA

Deconstructing “Deleterious”

What
One Word
Means for Wastewater

Product and Installer
Certification:
Help or Hindrance?

Great Lakes: The Medium is the Mayor

PLUS: Online Dating for Municipal Effluent and
Low-Budget Bottled Light

WATERCANADA

NOVEMBER/DECEMBER 2011

VOLUME 11 NUMBER 6

FEATURES

- 8 Deconstructing “Deleterious”
What one word means for wastewater.
BY KERRY FREEK
- 14 A Quiet Evolution
Tanks are the backbone of many water systems. How have they changed over the years?
BY DENNIS F. HALLAHAN
- 24 World Wide Water
A new program helps potential reuse partners find each other on the web.
- 26 Central Services
New software consolidates hydrometric data for the Water Survey of Canada.
BY MIRA SHENKER
- 34 Film Focus
TODD LATHAM reviews Carbon for Water.
- 36 What’s It Worth?
A new report attempts to determine water’s value to the Canadian economy.
- 45 Watching Water
Forty years of change and growth at Environment Canada.
BY LEANN GROSVOLD

SOURCE WATER PROTECTION

- 38 Cultivating Growth
With the support of the municipality, Chatham-Kent’s progressive farming community is reducing agricultural runoff.
- 40 A Fine Balance
Conservation committees strive for the right mix of consistency and local flexibility.
BY NICOLE BARBATO

REGIONAL FOCUS: WESTERN CANADA

- 20 Closer to Home
Alberta has a plan to face the drought of skilled water workers.
BY MICHAEL AHERNE AND JOHN VOYER

COLUMNS

- 28 Fine Print
The ABCs of warranties.
BY AARON ATCHESON
- 32 Liquid Assets
Taking a principled approach to corporate water management.
BY SCOTT MEAKIN

48 To Tap and Back

Certification may be the next frontier for drinking water treatment businesses.
BY KEVIN WONG

58 H2Opinion

The Medium is the Mayor.
BY DAVID ULLRICH

DEPARTMENTS

- 5 Editor’s Note
Does the proliferation of water hubs threaten market saturation?
BY KERRY FREEK
- 6 Comment
MEIRAV EVEN-HAR wants meaningful community consultation.
- 7 Front
Bottled water lights up shacks, readers win books, and people respond to BOB SANDFORD’s strongly worded letter from last issue.
- 50 News
Jobs, awards, partnerships, and moves.
- 52 Events
A clown hosts a fundraiser, tech stakeholders see business synergies, philanthropists meet with First Nations chiefs, and the people of the Northwest Territories know the materiality of water.

