

WATER CANADA

Trickle Down

Who Speaks for Nature's Needs in Alberta?

The Great Water Softener Debate

Can Canada Take India's Heat?

All Aboard the MV Namao

Twiddy

10

14

18

FEATURES

10 The Trickle-Down Effect

Who speaks for the environment's water needs in Alberta?

BY SUSAN R. EATON

21 Plenty of Room at the Table

York Region's soft path approach invites all stakeholders to provide input on its water strategy.

BY CAROL MAAS
AND PATRICK GILBRIDE

24 Dilution: No Longer a Solution

Regulators get tough on sulphate.

BY ANDREW HALL

28 Stop Trashing the Tubes

Enlightened distributors make UV lamp recycling easier for their customers.

34 The Good Ship

New marine technology and economics may bolster the quest for cleaner water in the St. Lawrence Seaway.

BY HARRY VALENTINE

36 All Aboard

KERRY FREEK visits Lake Winnipeg's MV Namao.

INTERNATIONAL

14 Watershed Moment

Helping Philippine cities mitigate environmental and disaster risk, and protect local water sources.

BY KERRY FREEK

18 Market Masala

Can Canadian water companies take India's heat?

20 Idea Jam

For three days in June, the world thought big about water.

COLUMNS

26 Groundbreakers

Guelph and Waterloo take the hard line with softeners.

30 Fine Print

Can municipal councillors be held responsible for their choices about water?

BY DIANNE SAXE
AND JACKIE CAMPBELL

42 H2Opinion

KRYSTYN TULLY explains the hidden benefits of "no-swim" signs.

DEPARTMENTS

5 Editor's Note

Observations from the Canadian Water Summit.

BY KERRY FREEK

6 Comment

T.D. ELLISON pays tribute to a municipal water survey.

7 Front Regina might profit from its wastewater, visitors learn that Canada's environment isn't as pristine as they'd hoped, and many of our readers think Canada needs a federal water strategy.

29 Giveaway

Lakeland: Ballad of a Freshwater Country.

31 News Jobs, awards, acquisitions, and partnerships.

38 Events TVO's Water Brothers

make an appearance at the Blue Bash, researchers descend upon Cornwall, Ontario, and we get up close with a round goby.

28

36

42