

WATER CANADA

INSIDE:

(page 27)

Pick Your Poison

Do We Have More Contaminants Than Answers?

Where Rail Meets
Water: Lessons from Lac-Mégantic (page 8)

What's Turning
Winnipeg's Water
Brown? (page 20)

Diagnosing Urban Stream Syndrome
(page 26)

8

12

18

WATERCANADA

NOVEMBER/DECEMBER 2013

VOLUME 13 NUMBER 6

FEATURES

8 When Rail Meets Water

The Lac-Mégantic tragedy highlights the environmental risks of transporting oil.

BY SAUL CHERNOS

12 Executive Roundtable

We asked municipal directors how they're planning to make their cities resilient to extreme weather.

BY KERRY FREEK

18 Pilots Take Flight

A wastewater plant's new facility moves emerging technologies from bench-scale testing to the real deal.

BY KERRY FREEK

DRINKING WATER

20 Flow Woes

Solving the mystery of Winnipeg's brown water.

BY CLARK KINGSBURY

WASTEWATER

22 A Light at the End of the Tunnel

After years of public brawls over a plan for sewage treatment, is Victoria's Capital Regional District finally ready to move forward?

BY BRAD DENSMORE

CONVEYANCE

25 No Surprises

Canadian cities experience watermain breaks all the time, but councillors are still shocked by their frequency and the disruptions they cause. Is it time they had a reality check?

BY CLARK KINGSBURY
AND RACHEL PHAN

WATER RESOURCES

26 Diagnosis: Stream Sickness

How urban stream syndrome causes natural waterways to function more like sewers—and what can be done to fix it.

BY ANGELA WALLACE

ANNUAL BUYER'S GUIDE

27 A comprehensive directory of water products, services and resources.

COLUMNS

42 Lessons Learned and Lessons to Come

The evolving liability for contamination.

BY BILL MCNAUGHTON
AND RICK COBURN

44 Groundbreakers

Confluvium maps the world's rivers.

BY KERRY FREEK

46 Rules and Regs

Are we handling water emergencies too well?

BY KLAS OHMAN

47 Giveaway

ALLEN SMUTYLO's Governor General Literary Award nominated The Memory of Water.

48 Ask the Expert

KWOK-KEUNG AU on effective alternatives to chlorine.

50 Put It to a Vote

After a city-wide referendum, Regina is moving forward with a P3 for its wastewater treatment plant.

BY M. E. POWELL

58 H2Opinion

We're all connected by water, says BRENT KULBA.

DEPARTMENTS

5 Editor's Note

Nowhere near done.

BY KERRY FREEK

7 Front Bivalves with benefits,

a pollution paradox, and JOHN RALSTON SAUL on the environment and economy.

52 News Jobs, awards, acquisitions, and new contracts.

55 Events World Water-Tech North America, Canadian Brownfields, Meeting of the Minds, and more.

42

44

58